MAY 1-2, 2026
UNION UNIVERSITY – MEMPHIS

TRYING TO SAVE THE PLANET FROM THE PEOPLE WHO ARE TRYING TO SAVE THE PLANET.

The Cornwall Alliance for the Stewardship of Creation is a network of theologians, scientists, economists, and leaders committed to combining research, education, and advocacy to promote Biblical principles in environmental stewardship, development, and faith.

Our mission is threefold:

Biblical Earth Stewardship Encouraging godly dominion to enhance Earth's fruitfulness, beauty, and safety for the glory of God and the benefit of others.

Economic Development Advancing solutions for the world's poor through entrepreneurship, property rights, free trade, and access to abundant, reliable, affordable energy.

The Gospel of Christ Proclaiming and defending the gospel of Jesus Christ based on Biblical worldview, theology, and ethics in a world filled with conflicting ideologies.

Through research, education, and advocacy, we seek to bring clarity and Biblical perspective to critical issues like environmental stewardship, economic development, and Christian faith.

In science, engineering, and finance, a sanity check is a quick test used to confirm that a result is reasonable before moving forward. In everyday language, a sanity check is a moment of stepping back and asking: Does this actually make sense?

Aiming to bring clarity, reason, and careful thinking back into conversations about the environment, economics, and human flourishing, Cornwall Alliance has launched, Sanity Check, a podcast designed to move conversations away from emotional reactions and toward careful thinking: rational arguments grounded in Biblical first principles, informed by sound economics, and attentive to observable facts about the world.
